

TO WATCH WAR FROM CLOUDS AEROPLANES ON BORDER

Will Soon be Ready for Operation, and for the First Time in History an Active, Working Aeroplane Patrol Will be One of the Effective Methods of Warfare--Eagle Pass Trial Flight Encourages Army Officials to Adopt New Method.

THREE NEW MACHINES ORDERED

Success of Recent Flight of Foulis and Parmelee From Laredo to Eagle Pass Prompts War Department to Make Further Experiments in Keeping Tab on Movements Along Rio Grande With Birdmen. More Aviators on Ground.

San Antonio, Tex., March 27.—Encouraged by the success of the flight of an army biplane from Laredo to Eagle Pass several weeks ago, the aeronautical detachment of the United States army signal corps, under command of Major George O. Squier, is soon to begin to put into actual practice the plan of patrolling portions of the boundary along the Rio Grande.

It is learned that all plans for the perfecting of duplication of the spectacular flight of Lieutenant Paul D. Foulis and Philip Parmelee, but that instead of one long-distance experiment such as they, the new aeroplane patrol, which will be inaugurated, will be inaugurated, when Squier returned to the aviation camp at Fort Sam Houston after a week's rest in riding along the northern course of the Rio Grande between Laredo and Eagle Pass, on a survey of the ground.

New Aeroplanes on Way.

Today three extra aviators attached to the aeronautical division of the signal branch of the service arrived from the army presidio at San Diego. They are First Lieutenant Paul W. Back of the First Infantry, Second Lieutenant John C. Walker of the Eighth Infantry and Second Lieutenant George E. M. Kelly of the Fourth Infantry. Three more aeroplanes, one Wright and two of the Curtiss type, have been ordered from their respective factories and will be ready for service along the border within a week.

After Foulis and Parmelee finished their flight they reported that during most of the time in the air they could view the country for 20 miles on either side of the river, and that the movement of a single horseman over the open plain was plainly visible.

FOUGHT TWO DAYS

Rebels and Rebels Both Lost Heavily in Fierce Battle. Austin, Tex., March 27.—The big battle of the Mexican revolution recently fought in a remote part of the territory of Tepic, according to the statement of Harry Whiton, a man belonging to a prominent family, who is fighting with the rebels in that part of the country, a letter received here Wilton says rebel forces had just finished a two days' engagement with federal troops. The losses of the rebels, he says, were 152 killed and 76 wounded. The federalists lost 363 killed and twice that number wounded.

Thirty-nine Drowned.

Vanocour, B. C., March 27.—The lumber schooner Schelt has been wrecked off Rocky Head, near Victoria, with a loss of 25 lives. Those on board the vessel went down were—two men, a woman and a crew of four. The survivors were laborers bound for construction camp of the Canadian Pacific railroad at Peddler Bay. The captain of the vessel was H. H. Beveridge, manager of the company.

MEXICO'S NEW CABINET

El Paso, Tex., March 27.—The new Mexican cabinet as outlined will not be satisfactory to the insurgents. With the exception of General Reyes, who may go into the cabinet, there is not a man named for the cabinet in whom the insurgents have confidence or who they believe will be disposed to grant them concessions. The war will have to go on until we take Diaz a prisoner, said a prominent insurgent.

Rebels Do Not Like New Cabinet

Insurrectos Say It Will Not Grant Reforms Demanded.

El Paso, Tex., March 27.—The new Mexican cabinet as outlined will not be satisfactory to the insurgents. With the exception of General Reyes, who may go into the cabinet, there is not a man named for the cabinet in whom the insurgents have confidence or who they believe will be disposed to grant them concessions. The war will have to go on until we take Diaz a prisoner, said a prominent insurgent.

Rebels are on the anxious seat as to the whereabouts of Jose de la Luz Blanco and his rebel command. They were near Chama Grande the latter part of the week. Whether they will attack the town or will march on to join Madero at Chihuahua or are coming to Juarez, as has been rumored, is not known. But Juarez is frightened again.

News from Nogales, fully confirmed, is that the victory of the federalists at La Colorado, Sonora, against the rebels who had taken that place, was complete, and that many rebels and horses were captured. Hermosilla, the state capital, is so strongly defended that there is no danger from an attack, but the belief prevails now that the movement against Hermosilla was merely a feint to draw in the troops from smaller towns. In this the rebels were successful. Many smaller towns are now left unprotected.

THE ENTIRE DRY FORCE NOW MARSHALED

And a Whirlwind Campaign Against the Fulton Dean Bill is Now Started. Numerous Mass Meetings Throughout the State Protest Against the Enactment of the Measure Fathomed by the Wets—Getting Ready for Wednesday's Fight.

MANY MASS MEETINGS HELD

Resolutions Adopted Denouncing the Latest Effort to Exempt Cities From Operation of Rose Law—Both Factions Confidently Assert That They Have Made Converts Among Opposition Members of House—Public Hearing to Be Held Tomorrow.

Columbus, O., March 27.—At numerous mass meetings held throughout the state, vigorous protest was made against the passage of the Dean-Fulton wet cities bill, which will be placed on its passage in the house Wednesday afternoon. Strong denunciations of the bill were made by speakers at these meetings and were endorsed by their hearers. In the aggregate the attendance ran into the thousands. The meetings were held in the home cities of wet members of the legislature, who were called upon by speech and resolution to change their position.

At Springfield, represented by Rev. Mr. Lorenz, wet member, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, by resolution, declared against the bill. The Fairbanks theater was far too small to hold the people who assembled to hear Representative Harry Crist of Delaware and others speak against the bill.

At Toledo Judge A. Z. Blair of Portsmouth, the publisher of vote-selling, charged the liberals with being the mainstay of the special interest combination, which was blocking the reform bills of Governor Harmon, and predicted that the passage of the Dean-Fulton bill would prove the ultimate doom of the liberal interests.

Urge Governor to Act

At Marion both Senator Finnefrock, wet, and ex-Senator Alsford of Licking, dry, who were scheduled to debate, failed to appear. The meeting went on just the same and resolutions were adopted urging Governor Harmon, Lieutenant Governor Nichols, Senator Finnefrock and Representative W. T. Smith to oppose the bill. Marion will send a delegation of 40 to the public hearing in the hall of the house tomorrow.

At East Liverpool a large gathering protested against the espousal of the wet cause by Representative Davidson. Similar protest against Representative Prick was made at the Portsmouth meeting.

Regardless of what effect the mass

Thursday, March 30.—Wet cities bill to exempt cities from operation of Rose law.

Thursday, March 30.—Wyman bill for popular election of United States senators.

meetings may have had on the votes of wet members, dry leaders here insisted that the situation was similar to that on the Dean bill three days before the vote, that the wets had yet to get the necessary 60 votes.

The wets claim the capture of Behne of Williams, Bruce of Cincinnati, Smith of Marion, Wyman of Shelby, Evans of Stark, Russell of Wayne and Goodbread of Wyandot. The dries count at the claims.

Of the list of suspects Bruce and Wyman are the only ones whose loss is feared by the dries. On the other hand Langdon of Warren and Irvin of Preble, who voted for the Dean bill, are reported to be contemplating voting against the cities bill, and other wets are thought now to be in doubt.

Mystery in Girl's Death

Columbus, O., March 27.—Juvenile court authorities are today investigating the death of Irene Easton, 10, whose parents attribute her death to excessive rope-jumping. An autopsy, however, prompted the belief that conditions are such as to warrant an investigation.

BODIES HORRIBLY MANGLED

Pier Morgue Filled With Charred Remains of Those Unable to Escape From Building—Women Faint in Arms of Nurses as Work of Identifying Dead Progresses.

New York, March 27.—Conditions which allowed nearly 150 persons to be trapped in a 10-story building when fire started and proper means of escape was lacking were denounced by architects, city officials, state factory inspectors and various civic bodies.

District Attorney Whitman said: "I do not believe that a more important subject could be put before a grand jury than the inexcusable conditions that seem to prevail all over Manhattan. Perhaps the laws are not drastic enough, possibly such laws are not rigidly enforced, at any rate it will be essential, I think, for the grand jury to spread before the public the exact situation. If the right kind of laws are lacking, public opinion will get them. If the laws haven't been enforced, the grand jury may be able to find out who is to blame. Fire Chief Croker tells me that the shocking conditions at the Asch building are duplicated all through the factory district and that it has been impossible for him, despite numerous appeals and protests, to make any headway. Fire Commissioner Waldo agrees absolutely with his subordinate. I can not believe that an occurrence so shocking can pass without something definite being done to protect the thousands of workers, who seem to be helpless as things are now."

MORE BODIES RECOVERED

Two Girls Crashed Through Pavement Light to Basement.

New York, March 27.—Three more bodies were found in the ruins of the Asch building, corner of Washington place and Greene street, occupied by the Triangle Waist company, when searchlights from fire apparatus were turned upon the blackened walls and firemen with lanterns invaded the premises. This increases the number of deaths to 145.

Firemen felt for hours around in the water under a hole in the sidewalk vault lights on the Greene street side, a hole made by falling bodies, but discovered nothing. One of them, happening to look up, saw two bodies of young women beneath which he and his companions had walked many times. The two dead girls were lying on a lattice of steam pipes, about four feet below the hole in the vault lights. Their bodies had broken the concrete and glass vault lights of the pavement and had fallen through the sidewalk hole to the steam pipes.

Later firemen working in the cellar of the building came across a body at the foot of the shaft of the two freight elevators on the north side of the building. It was so badly burned and mutilated that the firemen were unable to tell whether it was a man or a woman. Charles Aichman of fire patrol No. 2 found part of an arm and shoulder near the north end of the cutting room of the eighth floor, where the fire started, beneath a pile of wet plaster and bits of warped sewing machines.

Big Wind Strikes Jeffersonville

About 9-30 o'clock Monday morning Jeffersonville was visited by a severe wind and rain storm. The wind blew with fearful velocity, completely unroofing the old Methodist church which during the past year has not been occupied.

A horse and buggy standing on the main street were caught by the wind—the buggy blown completely over, causing the horse to run away.

No injuries have as yet been reported, but reports of damage to property of more or less extent were received all during the day.

Nix On The Extra Pay

In an opinion Friday Attorney General Hogan holds that sheriffs and city detectives who go to other states to bring persons back to Ohio who are charged with crime are not entitled to extra compensation. The ruling will save many dollars to various counties of the state which have been compelled to give their officials extra pay for work which falls within their regular duties.

Hogan found there was no statute which authorized the expenditure, while economical public policy would forbid such practice.

Washington's Y. M. C. A. Home First Authentic Publication

The Proposed Y. M. C. A. Home, on the Easterly Side of Main Street, North of Market. This Picture, Made from the Architects' Drawings from the Accepted Plans and Published Now for the First Time, Will Give Washington People an Idea of How the Big Y. M. C. A. Building Will Look When Completed.

The accompanying illustration gives one a fair idea of the size and character of the proposed Y. M. C. A. to be erected on North Main street, immediately north and joining up to the Worthington block, presented by Mrs. Madeline Sharp, and now known as the Sharp Memorial Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. building will extend back to the alley, a depth of 124 feet, and fronting 50 feet on Main street, the section between the association building and Sharp Memorial Y. M. C. A. is 43 x 34. This section is to be devoted to apartments on first and second floors, and the 3rd floor to dormitories, in connection with the dormitories of 3rd floor of Y. M. C. A., gives 30 sleeping rooms. The income from these rooms as well as the four apartments will go a good ways in helping the association to meet its financial obligations.

This building will contain such features as are found in all modern structures devoted to association work. The gymnasium is 43 by 62 feet, swimming pool 16 by 40 feet, sloping in depth from 3 to 8 feet.

Two large locker rooms, 2 shower bath rooms, and the locker system to be installed will be one of the features of the building. The Kansas City Locker system, has been investigated by the local committee, and improved upon, and when installed will be known as the "Washington Locker System."

Special emphasis is to be laid upon the religious and educational work of this institution. Five rooms on the second floor are to be used as class rooms, where regular sessions will be held for instruction along various lines, under competent teachers. The partitions in these rooms are so constructed as to permit of their being thrown into one large room, or smaller ones, as occasion may demand. A very effective campaign along educational lines is to be carried on, for instance agricultural talks, and lectures for the farmer. Talks on first aid to the men of the factories and mills. Educational talks, along various themes for the student, etc. The basement of the apartment section is to be devoted to a mechanical school. With proper machinery and equipment this is to be made one of the strong attractions of the educational department. When we stop to look at some of the statistical records of association work along educational lines, we cannot help but recognize the need of such work in our city. Twenty-four Ohio associations reported over 6,000 men and boys studying in their night schools, last year, while 452 associations of North America report 52,277 students in night school for last year.

In the religious department, a strenuous campaign is to be started in the interest of a better and nobler manhood. Sunday afternoon mass meetings, Bible classes, for all men and boys, shop meetings during lunch hours for the factory and mill men, are features to be inaugurated under the direction of the committee. The attendance at men's meetings as reported by all associations in America for last year was over 3,000,000. While over 70,000 men and boys were enrolled in Bible classes during the same period.

There is no limit to what association can do when provided with proper equipment. And we feel confident that when our building is in operation, there will be marked advances in the development and conservation of Fayette county's most valuable assets, namely, her men and boys.

While the local committee have not as yet let the bid for the building. They expect to reach some conclusions by Friday, as to what can be done. They are of the opinion the building as pictured can be built for the sum allotted for this purpose.

Dempsey An Over Sunday Visitor

Mr. P. E. Dempsey, second assistant attorney general of the state, came down from Columbus Saturday evening and remained until Monday evening arranging business matters and meeting friends. Mr. Dempsey is still compelled, owing to the accident sustained by him some months ago, to walk with a cane, and crutch.

He speaks in the most laudatory terms of Attorney General Hogan and the balance of his official family.

Although he says the work is very exacting and confining he is greatly pleased with his end of it. He says that at the present time the office of the attorney general is about the busiest one in the capital.

The rearrangement of the taxing laws of the state are a prolific source of inquiries directed to the attorney general's office by officials all over the state.

As usual, however, Mr. Dempsey says that in number and in difficulty of solution the inquiries of the justice of the peace courts are a precedent over all.

JAMES JAMISON DIES IN LONDON

Late Saturday evening came the shocking word from London, Ohio, that James Jamison had died at the Williams Hotel about 10 o'clock, at the age of 27.

Mr. Jamison has been in the cattle business, buying for H. C. Teachner in the London vicinity the past season.

He went over to London on Wednesday evening and was taken ill Thursday, the trouble in the nature of an attack of the heart, to which Mr. Jamison was subject. Saturday morning he seemed better and was up and about the room. At noon he was taken violently ill and died at ten o'clock, before any of his family could reach him. He was unconscious from noon until his death.

Undertaker Elmer Klever was called by telephone and went over to London at midnight Saturday night. He brought back the remains Sunday afternoon at 3:43 and they were taken at once to the home of the parents of the deceased, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob L. Jamison, on Washington avenue.

The funeral services will be held at the residence Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock and burial will be in the Washington cemetery.

Mr. Jamison leaves one son, about 12 years old.

His parents, who are suffering greatly from the terrible shock, have the sympathy of their numerous friends. His brother, Tom, accompanied by his wife, arrived from Cleveland Sunday night.

QUIT CALOMEL

Thousands Are Turning from This Dangerous Drug.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute is Olive Tablets for the Liver

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent Physician of Portsmouth, Ohio, has discovered a new laxative and liver tonic in a combination of vegetable materials, including olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like the old and untrustworthy calomel, except that there are none of the bad after-effects of calomel.

Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers.

His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him years ago towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he is today in possession of the long sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated olive-oil colored tablet.

The results of fifteen years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets.

They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets and their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

They are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy, which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

All druggists sell them in neat vest pocket sizes at 10c and 25c.

THE MAIL ORDER MAN.

The conviction by a jury in the United States District court at Cincinnati, Judge Howard Hollister presiding, of William P. Harrison, the well-known Queen City mail order man, carries with it, as all such cases do, many pathetic features.

Mr. Harrison is a quiet spoken, dignified, gentle mannered man entirely free from the smaller vices, a man who has consistently devoted himself to building up of a vast and profitable business—The World Manufacturing Company, and several smaller companies subsidiary to it.

He has spent the best years of his life in earnest devotion to that business until it was, at the time the Federal government closed in upon it and practically crushed out a few weeks ago, one of the largest and most prosperous mail order houses in the country.

The verdict of the jury in Judge Hollister's court was that Harrison was guilty as charged in the indictment of using the United States mail for fraudulent purposes.

His crime consisted, according to the verdict, in overpraising very inferior, if not wholly worthless articles.

These fulsome praises he transmitted through the mails to all sections of the country, inviting remittances in cash, which poured into his coffers from the gullible public in a golden stream.

His business was a success—a phenomenal success—due to his energy and his peculiar ability, and his singleness of purpose—in short to his absolute devotion to that business.

At the age of 67 years he is confronted, it may charitably be supposed, for the first time, with the knowledge that his efforts had been in vain, that his purpose was a mistake.

The Federal authorities warned him that the business could not continue and he promised to stop. But he did not do so. And then the hand which had attempted to lead the way to safety, was clenched and a fearful blow was aimed at Mr. Harrison and his business. A fraud order was issued which resulted in holding up all of the mail of the company and the Federal Grand Jury indicted Harrison as a criminal.

The government after having warned him to stop his business determined, upon his disobedience of that warning, to crush him and his business.

How well it succeeded is told by the sad picture in Judge Hollister's court when Harrison was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000, pay the costs of prosecution, amounting to $10,000, and to serve three years in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas.

Already on the downward slope of life's pathway amid the ruins of a prosperous business, facing three years' imprisonment, trembling like a leaf in the gale, the picture presented, when Harrison was sentenced, was not one to be soon forgotten either by those who witnessed it or those who read the graphic accounts of the closing scene of the trial which had been watched by "mail order men" the nation over.

But there is that other picture that should not be forgotten either—the one which the government did not forget. The one of the thousands of victims scattered all over the land, who were induced to part with their hard-earned dollars and to receive nothing of value in return.

The heartaches, the deprivations and the blasted hopes of those people, generally among the poorer classes who could all afford to lose, who had read and believed the statements of Harrison, were not forgotten by the Federal government.

That was the picture which caused the ponderous machinery of the Federal government to move in defense of the victims of the mail order man.

The Harrison case is not without its valuable lessons.

The Federal government has said in this prosecution and conviction that the peoples' own property, the United States mails, shall not be made the instrument of designing swindlers to rob them of the fruits of their toil.

Mr. Harrison disobeyed the mandate of the government and he must suffer and suffer severely. With ruined fortune, the knowledge that an active business career, covering the best years of his life, has been spent in a dishonest purpose, when the prison doors of Leavenworth penitentiary close behind him, the wreck will be complete.

But the government is right, the people must be protected and the crusade against these swindling mail order concerns must go on. It is sincerely to be hoped that the work begun so near at home will be pushed vigorously in all sections and against all people regardless.

There can be no mistaking the law. He who runs can read it and read it understandingly. No man can believe that he is not defrauding when he gives nothing for something, and no man can deceive himself as to the value of that which he makes himself.

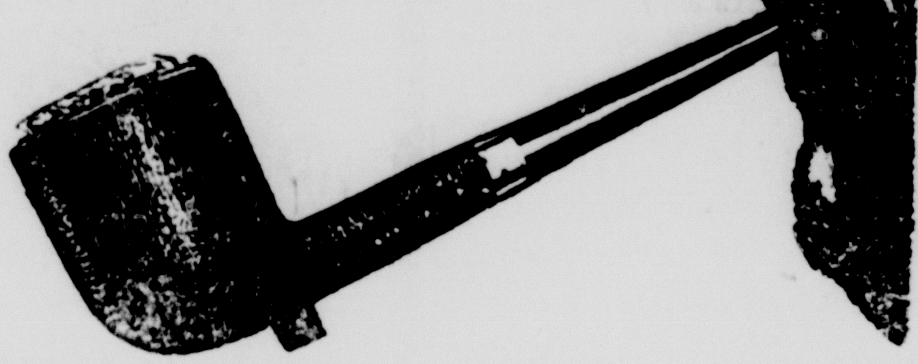

The government has wisely adopted a policy in these prosecutions which goes straight to the root of the whole trouble.

Did you intend to defraud is the question and there is no sidestepping that direct question.

People should ever be on their guard against the perpetrator of a fraud upon them, and as an additional safeguard the government has said that mail order men shall not pester and tempt the people through the mails, by false representations, and defraud them of their money.

No Pipe Dream About This.

YOU MAY JUST PUT IT IN YOUR PIPE AND SMOKE IT—TO WIT, THAT THE REAL GOBLIN THAT WILL GET YOU IF YOU DON'T WATCH OUT IS THE GREAT BIG MAIL ORDER GOBLIN. THIS COMMERCIAL GOBLIN HAS GOT THE BULK OF THE BUSINESS IN MANY COMMUNITIES, TO THE DETRIMENT OF THOSE COMMUNITIES. IF YOU REALLY ARE LOYAL TO HOME YOU WILL PATRONIZE HOME PEOPLE IN BUSINESS.

POETRY FOR TODAY

MORE LOVELY GROWS THE EARTH.

More lovely grows the earth as we grow old.
More tenderness is in each dawning spring;
More bronze upon the blackbird's burnished wing;
In deeper blue the violets unfold;
More lavish is the autumn's spread of gold.
And with half-conscious joy each living thing
For every love its treasure seems to bring.
Entreating us with beauty to behold.
Or is it that with years we grow more wise,
And reverent to the mystery profound—
Withheld from hasty or indifferent eyes—
That broods in simple things the world around
And breaks to loveliness that glories
And makes of common pathways holy ground?
—By Helen A. Saxton in Twentieth Century Magazine.

THE DOOM OF SAILS.

Alas! must ye utterly vanish, and cease from amidst us,
Sails of the olden sea?
Now dispossessed by the stern and studded ironclad,
Wingless and squat and stern?
Purple sails of the heroes lured to the westward,
Spread for the golden isles!
Sails of a magic foam with fairy plunder
Waiting the wizard gold!
Sails of the morning, come like ghosts on the sea-line,
With midnight load of the deep!
Sails of the sunset, red over endless waters,
For the farthest Orient filled!
Sails of the starlight, passing we know not whither,
Silent, lighted and lone!
Sails of the Sea-man accursed and cruising for ever,
Hoist by a spectral crew!
Sails set afire by the lightning, resounding to tempest,
That drum and thunder and sing!
Sails that unruffled repose on a bosom of azure,
Glossed by a placid flood!
Alas! must ye go as a dream, and depart as a vision,
Sails of the olden sea?
—The Spectator.

Bandages

It is lots handier and safer to use our sanitary bandages in case of accident—say a cut finger or scalded hand—than to tear a corner off the tablecloth or spoil a good handkerchief.

Bandages cost next to nothing and will save temper and trouble to have them on hand.

Bandages come in various widths and prices accordingly—some as low as 5c.

China Agrees To Czar's Demand

Prompt Compliance Averts the Threatened War.

Peking, March 27.—China has decided not to resist the demands made upon her in the ultimatum sent from Russia, and as a result the Chinese foreign board notified the Russian minister here, M. Korostovetz, that a note formally acquiescing in the demands of the czar's government will be delivered today. Several conferences between the members of the foreign board preceded the notification of the surrender on the part of China.

It was understood that the board was practically unanimous in the opinion that China was powerless to insist on her view of the questions under discussion.

Shortly after this a hand was found on the window ledge of the fifth floor on the Greene street side, evidently broken from the wrist of a falling body. Two charred arms and a burned foot were found on the ninth floor.

Bodies Taken to Morgue

Two dead bodies and the bits of charred remains were sent to the morgue. When the body found at the foot of the freight elevator shaft had been sent to the morgue there was a row of 15 pine coffins painted a dull red stretched along the south side of the covered pier and 69 along the north side, each containing a body which, in most cases, was unrecognizable.

Twenty-six of the 69 coffins along the north side of the pier were covered, showing that these bodies had been identified. Of the line of 15 across the pier the lids of seven had been fastened to the coffins.

The relatives of those friends who were looking for their dead at the pier morgue began to come an hour or two after the first body arrived there, and they were still in line at dawn. The line of people waiting a chance to look at the victims of the fire strung from the pier entrance back on Twenty-sixth street, a long block to First avenue and then south on First avenue to Twenty-fourth street. There were fire-coated young men carrying canes who laughed and chatted with well-dressed girls as the line jostled slowly eastward toward the pier entrance. White-capped nurses from Bellevue and the allied hospitals really had more to do with the handling of the crowds than the police. On the south side of the pier was a white-canopied table. Many times there would be heard a shriek and a nurse would clasp her arms around the woman who had either begun to grow hysterical upon recognizing her dead or who had fainted from the horror that lay stretched all about.

Blame Cigarette Stub

Max Black, one of the proprietors of the Triangle company, told the reporters that it was against orders to smoke in their lifts. The report, he said, came from the debris on the eighth floor, at the place where the fire started, was amid the half-burned cigarettes, stems and bits of clothing, a cigarette stub. In another part of the building were a number of unlit cigarettes, some lying on the floor. Around some of the bodies of the men who jumped and in the pockets of their clothes were quantities of matches. This, Black said, had convinced him the fire was caused by a smoker, who tossed away a match or a lit cigarette on the floor among the feet of his flameless fellow workers in the manufacture of waists and slippers.

There was not an outside fire escape on the building and a few minutes after the fire was discovered the windows were black with smoke. "Don't jump! Don't jump!" yelled the crowd, but the girls and men, driven by the pressure of the mad, dense hundreds behind them and the urging of their own fears, were too strong. They began to fall to the sidewalk in a terrible rain of flesh and blood.

In such a horrible stream did the bodies overflow from the windows that the fire nets, stretched by the first company to arrive, were soon gorged beyond capacity. Tattered bodies weighted one net to the bursting point but the bodies kept on tumbling to the pavement through the meshes that could not longer support them.

The building stands with shell in fact and barely scarred—rather only smudged. The partitions of architectural tiling between floor and floor are sound, and it is impossible for one who did not see it to imagine how the flames in so short space could have wrought such havoc. Seven hundred hands, too of them women, were employed by the snail waist company. They sat in rows at their whirling machines, the tables before them piled with flimsy cloth, the floor littered with cloth, the air itself full of flying inflammable dust.

Seven Dead in Wreck

China, Ga., March 27.—Seven persons were killed and more than a dozen injured when the "Dixie Flyer" on the Atlantic Coast line, running between Chicago and Jacksonville, Fla., was wrecked on a trestle over the Apopka river, near here. The first and second-class coaches and the first Pullman sleeper went into the river, carrying away about 400 feet of trestle.

Q. & C. Strike Comes To End

Railroad and Firemen Each Concede
a Few Points.

Cincinnati, O., March 27.—The strike of the white firemen on the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific railroad was declared off after an agreement had been signed by representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and Horace Baker, general manager of the road.

The agreement is to all appearances a compromise, both sides yielding several points in the dispute. In short, the agreement holds that employees who went on strike shall be reinstated.

Rapidly Reorganizing Office Force

Secretary of State Graves Has Force
Nearly Reorganized.

Columbus, O., March 27.—Secretary of State Graves has announced another batch of appointments, which he said would nearly finish his appointing duties. E. Heavenside is to be succeeded by a Tiffin man as solicitor general in the bureau of vital statistics. He was selected by the Democratic county organization and Senator Frank T. Bane was expected in Columbus with the name in his pocket. He did not appear, however.

Other selections were: M. A. Goller of Nye, DeWitt county, as superintendent of the lock room, to succeed John McCartney; F. V. Mulvey of Zanesville, shipping clerk of the auto department; L. C. Plummer of Adams county, to succeed G. I. Gardiner as editor of the bureau of vital statistics.

SPEEDY RELIEF FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE

"I had an acute attack of Bright's disease with inflammation of the kidneys and bladder, and dizziness," says Mrs. Corna Thorp, Jackson, Mich. "A bottle of Foley's Kidney Remedy overcame the attack, reduced the inflammation, took away the pain and made the bladder action normal. I wish everyone could know of this wonderful remedy." NINETY-TWO AUTOMOBILES REGISTERED IN JANUARY

In Fayette County---In All, Counting Chauffeurs and Dealers, There Were One Hundred and Fifteen Tags Issued to Fayette Countians by the State Department---Complete List of Machines Registered at That Time.

During January 115 automobile licenses were issued to Fayette county owners, dealers and chauffeurs by the state registrar of automobiles, according to the reports for the month received this week by Clerks of Court Hitecock. Sixty-six of the machines are owned in Washington and the remainder throughout the rest of the county. Jeffersonville folks own 13, Madison Mills 4, Bloomington 2, Milledgeville 1. This is about 50 per cent. more licenses than were secured during January, 1919. Fayette county now ranks well up in number of machines in proportion to population.

The report, which is the largest by far of any ever issued by the state automobile department, shows that almost 17,000 machines were registered during January, the most of any one month since automobiles were first put under the license law. Commenting on the registration, J. A. Shearer, state registrar, says that during 1911 more than 40,000 licenses will be taken out by Ohio people as against 30,000 during 1910.

The report gives an idea of the enormous growth of the automobile industry in this state and country.

The licenses and license numbers issued in Fayette county during January is as follows:

QUAINT LAMPS FOR THE MODERN LIVING ROOM

Since the fad for quaint lamps and lamp shades has taken such a firm hold on the housekeeper who takes pride in the tasteful decoration of the interior of her home, many novel and beautiful lamps have been turned out. One of the prettiest recently seen had a bowl of dull brass made in the shape of a deep urn. The globe was of bright yellow china ornamented with golden dragons, which gave to the whole thing a decidedly Chinese appearance.

Flashlight Useful

It may seem rather foolish to say that a pocket flashlight will be a convenience to a woman, what would be of greater use than one of these to ascertain the time or to make sure of one's whereabouts in a strange house?

Design for Table Linen

Among the new patterns used in decorating table linen one of the prettiest is the orchid design. This is used as a border, while over the surface of the cloth single orchids are scattered at regular intervals. The same design is used to decorate the napkins, although in these the flowers are smaller.

ENGLISH IN SOME PLACES.

In Boston "been" is "been,"
Though Whittier's "been" was "ben."
As doubtless you have seen,
He made it rhyme with "ten."

In Pittsburg it is "bin,"
Though it contains no is.
There it would be a sin
To speak it otherwise.

In Boston it's "again,"
The second is long,
As is the "a" in "train."
In Kansas that is wrong.

There when they say "again,"
As frequently they do,
They made it rhyme with "men,"
And Kipling does it too.

But Kipling, it is plain,
Is not for wasting time.
He often says "again"
In filling out a rhyme.

Down Indiana way
They cut it to "ag'in," Although in writing they Still let the slip in.

Good friends, dear friends, I vow
I have no wish to croak,
But kindly tell me how
Is proper English spoe?

WHY HUSBY WAS JEALOUS.
She stopped beside the faded-looking little woman in the waiting room. "My, you look bad this morning, Amy!" she greeted her pityingly. "What's the matter now?" Amy moved aside on the sofa and motioned to her friend to sit down. "Jim and I've fought out again," she confided, then, with a shrug, "if it wasn't for his jealousy, Bessie, I'm sure we could get along. You know since he won't let me go to see Sister Edith things have been so much worse."

"Oh, yes, I know," nodded the other wisely. "But what on earth started him again?"

"Well, I'd planned to go to the theater with Edith," resumed the injured one, colorlessly. "We knew we couldn't let Jim know, so I told her to drop me a note when it suited her and out it under the door on her way down to the store. Edith is so dull about some things, you know, Bessie, and of course she put it in the worst possible place, with the worst possible things written on it."

The other woman nodded understandingly.

"When Jim went down to take in the milk he found it under the bottles, and this is what he read:

"Shall we go on Saturday? I'm ready whenever you are."

"And of course he thought the milkman and I were going to elope, and I couldn't explain, he's accused me of all sorts of things, Bessie. He told me for going back to mother for a few days!"—Philadelphia Evening Times.

Lessons From the Past.
Thesens had slain the Minotaur. "Merely practicing," he said. "I'm going to tackle the octopus next."

But that voracious monster dwelt in the innermost recesses of a labyrinth too intricate—a labyrinth for him to penetrate. —Chicago Tribune.

The Point of View.
"My husband is a mean man." "Why so?" "Just because my mother is coming to visit us he's gone and invited his." —(Pittsburgh Post.)

A man shouldn't have so much confidence in himself that he hasn't any left for the rest of the world.

Touch of White In Collar of Jacket
Many color jackets have a little touch of white made the collar for the double purpose of attracting the eye and of the collar, and as a protection for the fine lace of the body.

Instead of stiff bands of gingham and dung that have been used formerly to line the coat collar, the earliest spring jackets show a narrow edge of washdown or maroon which gives, when the change from the fur neckpiece will no longer be a risk, will be repaired by a soft brushing of lace or net.

Unless the lace can be of comparatively fine grade, it is always better to use a narrow band which will cheapen the costliest garment.

Stripes Popular
When made of striped material, very often the coats and shirts have centerfront and centerback panels, in which the stripes run across, while at the sides they run in a lengthwise direction.

Although this style has been carried out in some of the winter suits, it will be so much worn during the spring that it is worthy of mention.

Vogue of Small Roses
The new hats are trimmed with quantities of small flowers, especially tiny pink ones. They outline bands of trimming and quills and wings of mousseline de soie, they follow the edges in and out and are massed in bunches and tall sprays. For the moment large flowers are put quite in the background.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR
FOR ALL COUGHS AND COLDS

For bronchitis, hoarseness and tickling in the throat. Especially recommended for children and delicate persons. No opiates. A medicine, not a narcotic. The Bee Hive on the carton is the mark of the genuine. Refuse substitutes.

A Reliable Cough Medicine.

Is a valuable family friend. Foley's Honey and Tar fulfills this condition exactly. Mrs. Charles Kline, N. 5th St., Easton, Pa., states: "Several members of my family have been cured of bad coughs and colds by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar and I am never without a bottle in the house. It soothes and relieves the irritation in the throat and loosens up the cold. I have always found it a reliable cough cure and do not hesitate to recommend it highly." For la grippe coughs and stuffy colds, for children and grown persons and for delicate people use only Foley's Honey and Tar. Contains no opiates. Blackmer & Tanquary.

OBITUARY.
John D. Bannon was born in Washington C. H., Ohio, April the twenty-third in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and eighty and departed from this life about eleven o'clock on the evening of the sixteenth day of March, nineteen hundred and eleven, at Mount Carmel Hospital in the city of Columbus, O.

The deceased was the eldest son of Thomas and Catherine Bannon. He was brought up an Episcopalian and was baptized under the authority of that church while still a child. When only twelve years of age John lost his mother and from that time was deprived of that naive true love, affection, and those tender and esteemed counsels only administered by and characteristic of a mother.

He received his early education in our public schools. From a youth he took great interest in militarism and throughout his whole life we saw the predominant military spirit imbedded in his character which rose to the surface at every opportunity. About the time of the Spanish-American war we saw him creditably filling the office of sergeant in the local camp of the Sons of Veterans. Later he organized the Sons of Veterans Drum and Bugle Corps and served as their Captain.

From the Washington High school John Bannon entered the Emerson Studio where he very soon developed his superior ability as a photographer and from this period he made this his chosen business profession. In nineteen hundred Mr. Bannon bought out Mr. Emerson's interest in the business and for the next six years successfully managed the Bannon Art Studio. The product of his work may be found in every home in our city and speaks more eloquently than words.

John D. Bannon was united in marriage to Miss Georgia McKitterick with whom for over four years he enjoyed the blessings of a most happy wedlock. About this time he was taken into the Independent Order of the Odd Fellows and he expressed himself as receiving great pleasure in the work of the order. On the twentieth day of June in the year nineteen hundred and six he met with the second great misfortune of his life in the loss of his wife, who was administered to and constantly attended by the untiring devotion of a true, lovable and faithful husband. Mr. Bannon's health failing he sold out his business and for the next two years was down in the southern part of the state where for sometime he was connected with a railroad company and afterward to some extent followed his profession of photography.

On the twenty-third day of July, nineteen hundred and six, John D. Bannon enlisted in Company M of the Fourth Regiment of the Ohio National Guards. On January the first, nineteen hundred and eight he was appointed quartermaster-sergeant where he gained the utmost confidence and respect of his men and his superior officers, who testify to his excellent character which is the highest tribute that can be paid to any soldier. He was patriotic, a thorough drillmaster and he was popular with his company. He was next in his work. He was faithful in the performance of his duty. His word was as good as his action and could always be depended upon with the highest degree of confidence to carry out any order given him. In nineteen hundred and eight he served on the Regimental Rifle Team at Camp Perry where he made a record for sharpshooting for which he was awarded a medal. The books of the Company show he was honorably discharged June the twenty-third, nineteen hundred and nine, at his own request, by reason of his removal from the Company's station.

On the seventeenth day of December nineteen hundred and nine, Mr. Bannon was wedded to Miss Maude Hughes of Wellston, Ohio, and our Almighty Father blessed this union with the birth of a bright little daughter, Anna Kathryn Bannon, who survives him. He also leaves his father, Thomas Bannon, of this city, Mayme Bannon Chapeman, of Denver, Colorado, and one brother, Edward Bannon of Louisville, Kentucky. His youngest brother Thomas preceded him to the great beyond on September the sixth, nineteen hundred and nine.

Our social intercourse and dealings with the deceased, made us acquainted with his many good and noble qualities as well as his faults. Perhaps faults is not the proper word to use. We all have our faults, he had his faults. But why speak of a fault when we have so many virtues to extol. When we bury the dead let their faults be buried with them. When we speak of the dead let us only remember their virtues. And in remembering the life of our dear one, friend and brother, all who knew him will remember him as wholesome, liberal, energetic and unselfish. John Bannon was ambitious. He was never satisfied with doing his duties just good enough, but we always found him striving conscientiously to perform his duties to the very best of his ability. As a citizen we found him on the side of right and justice conscientiously using his right of suffrage in support of that issue which redounded to the preservation of order and to the moral and social welfare of our community.

In his home we found a kind husband and an indulgent parent. He had a bright and happy disposition which contributed so much towards his home life with his family. Truly may we say that the tender memories living in the minds of his family are the greatest asset in the healing of the wounds in the minds of those who mourn today.

"What's the cause of all that racket?" asked the manager of the great animal show. "Can't it be stopped? The people out in front will be getting panic stricken in a minute."

"We can't help it, sir," replied the press agent. "The lion tamer's wife is back there chasing him around the cages and refusing to listen to reason."

House-Renting and House-Selling Are Want Ad Tasks

They are such "usual tasks" for the want ads that it would be hard to find a rented house whose tenant did not find it through answering an ad—or an owned house whose purchase and sale did not originate in a classified ad.

If these facts are not significant to owners of property, no facts whatever would be.

Warlike Scenes at San Antonio, Where Soldiers Are In Camp

Photos Copyright by American Press Association.

WARLIKE scenes are being enacted at San Antonio, Tex., where some twenty thousand of Uncle Sam's troops are assembled in what is officially a "maneuver," but what seems to have some connection with the insurrection in Mexico. The war department has denied that there was any intention of sending the soldiers any closer to the Rio Grande, but newspaper correspondents who have visited the camp say that there are no indications that the men are to remain at San Antonio for any considerable length of time. Guessing as to the meaning of the sudden transfer of troops has been popular, and one man's guess is as good as another's. One suggestion is that the troops were ordered from army posts to the tented field with a view of impressing Japan with the tremendous resources of the United States and to show that there is no danger of an army of little brown men landing on the Pacific coast and proceeding eastward without molestation. When twenty or thirty thousand soldiers can be mobilized within a few days it would indicate that the progress of any foreign army across the United States would be subject to delays. The pictures shown above tell graphically the story of the war game as unfolded at San Antonio. The first picture shows Company A of the Fifteenth regulars pitching tents, the second picture shows Battery A of the Third artillery on the way to camp, the third photograph shows the Third battalion of the Twenty-second regiment on the way to camp, while the last picture was made as the members of the Seventy-first Infantry were digging trenches to protect their tents in case of attack.

Ohio Happenings

Farmers Raid Blind Tigers.
Xenia, O., March 27.—Taking the law into their own hands and going over the heads of city officials and police, a party of 16 Greene county farmers, headed by Prosecuting Attorney Frank L. Johnson, conducted a successful systematic raid on six of Xenia's blind tiger saloons. Two dray loads of whiskey were captured and hauled into court. A score of arrests are expected to result from the raid.

Dynamite Used on Bridge.
Cleveland, O., March 27.—Unknown vandals dynamited the new iron ore handling plant of the Erie railroad at North Randall, a suburb of Cleveland. The dynamite was used on the ore bridge of the plant, which was destroyed, with an estimated loss of $200,000. The plant was only recently completed at a cost, it is said, of $1,000,000, and had been in operation only a few days.

Shoots Little Sister.
Bay City, O., March 27.—Johnnie Allen, 5, and his sister, 3, were playing William Tell, when the boy shot and instantly killed his sister. The boy had a flintlock rifle and his sister held up a bottle for him to shoot. She held the bottle in front of her face and her brother fired, the ball entering the brain of the little girl. Death was instantaneous.

Stricken With Paralysis.
Cochran, O., March 27.—J. A. B. Finley, former representative from this county, was stricken with paralysis and will not recover.

PNEUMONIA FOLLOWS A COLD.
But never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar, which checks the cough and expels the cold. "M. Stockwell, Hannibal, Mo., says, 'It beats all the remedies I ever used. I contracted a bad cold and cough and was threatened with pneumonia. One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar completely cured me.' No opiates, just a reliable household medicine. Blackmer & Tanquary.

DAINTY STOCKINGS TO MATCH COSTUME

Embroidery and Insertion
Used on New Silk Hose for This Season.

As fascinating as silk stockings always are, the new ones shown for spring wear are really ideal. In all respects to match any shade of dress and can be conceived, the exquisite embroideries and insertions of color and an added charm to the fair wearers' attire.

Not content with wearing these stockings of the forenoon, colors of silk, the manufacturers are now turning out silk stockings in two colors.

These are very different from the changeable silk stockings, for when stretched the stocking has a ribbed appearance. Green and black, red and black, purple and black, gold and black—all are shown in this combination.

A standing pair of French blue stockings was introduced in an early design, while for the bride there is a pair in white, the instep being covered with lovely English point embroidery.

The gold stocking so popular during the winter will be worn in the spring, but the gold has deepened and in some cases is perfectly near a light tan. These too are embroidered in self color, although some are plain, while others have black clocks on the sides.

SMART AND PRACTICAL COLOR COMBINATION

One of the most practical and at the same time fashionable of spring combinations is black and white. It is used in striped chiffon, silks and chiffon voiles, in check suitings and in velvet one material with another. Many of the new spring hats show this combination, and a woman who wishes to be well dressed and wants a spring hat now and who yet cannot afford to buy another soon, will do well to invest in a black straw hat with a touch of white in the trimming, as a black and white hat may be worn with any color gown or suit.

Chestnut Muffins

To make chestnut muffins boil one quart of Italian or large chestnuts, shell and rub them through colander; add one-half teaspoonful salt, beaten yolks of two eggs, one-half cup milk and one-half cup flour sifted with one teaspoonful baking powder; add beaten whites of the eggs last and bake in well buttered gem pans.

Chiffon Blouses

An almost indispensable item in the wardrobe of the woman who goes a good deal to restaurants, matinees, etc., is the chiffon blouse matching the suit in color.

Its popularity of the winter has in no wise caused an abatement of popularity for spring, for even with the linen suits the chiffon blouse is used.

NOT PERMANENTLY DEAF.

Gomer Van Horn, thirty-second and Master streets, was accosted the other afternoon by a chap who apparently was down in his luck. The stranger asked him for "two bits," whereupon Van Horn explained that he hadn't been home since morning and was out of cash.

This explanation did not satisfy the stranger, whereupon he let go at Van Horn and pummeled him until the arrival of Patrolman Foster, who is known as "the man always around."

Foster took the prisoner to the nearest box and soon the wagon was on its way to the Nineteenth and Oxford streets station.

Sergeant Egan asked the man his name. No answer. Again and again the man was asked his name, but no answer. The man hadn't said a word since he had asked for the two bits, but the policeman hadn't heard that.

"Look him up in No. 4," said the sergeant to Turley McGuire.

McGuire led the fellow away and said, "You may be deaf this afternoon, but you'll have your hearing in the morning."

He did, but it wasn't until Magistrate Morris had said thirty days in the county prison. — Philadelphia Evening Times.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

A tonic in action, quick in results. A special medicine for all kidney and bladder disorders. Mrs. R. Snyder, Springfield, O., says, "For six years I had suffered severely with kidney trouble and had backache together with painful urinary irregularities. I lost sleep and became restless and nervous. A friend advised me to try Foley Kidney Pills which I did. The results were surprising. The pains left my back, my kidney action became regular and normal and without pain. I can sleep all night and all this I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills which I certainly recommend to all for kidney trouble." Blackmer & Tanquary.
